
Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/09 23:07

Anyone know where i could find some sheet music for the harmonica? I was wanting specifically a mario theme. smb 1,2,and 3 are fine, and super mario world. I cant find anything.

oh oh. and the entertainer. i cant find it either.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Hartland - 2007/08/10 06:11

Just normal music sheets should do, you can adapt them to play on the harmonica fairly easily, depending on how good a harmonica player you are. Have you had a look for any dedicated harmonica websites? They might have a long list of music sheets..

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/12 22:12

yea. I've spent hours and hours searching but I can't find anything. And I am not good enough to translate the music. My younger brother is in the band though and tried to convert harmonica to trombone and it didnt work. But it really doesnt matter i guess.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/17 23:19

i found a site. its not perfect but it oes have some good songs on it. its kinda like the wikipedia of harmonica sheet music, and what i mean by that is, its edited by the people who join the site. its harptabs.com if anyone is interested.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Hartland - 2007/08/18 06:12

I'm not a harmonica player, but I'll take a look anyway. I've been meaning to learn an instrument, harmonica seems like the more annoyng choice, so I may take it up just to piss people off!

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Hartland - 2007/08/18 06:18

Thats sad, Mario theme is incomplete.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/18 23:16

Yea i didnt realize it until i got to the end and i was like wtf. lol.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Hartland - 2007/08/19 05:31

They got to the best part, and then stopped...

There's Zelda ones though, they seem complete, if not a bit short (may be incomplete for all I know, I'm trying to sound the notes in my head).

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/19 12:48

yea lol. I never really cared for zelda so i never would learn to play the music. im working on the dueling banjos right now. except by myself lol.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/23 19:48

Harptabs.com is really good ffor sheet musix as far as free stuff goes. lol. As long as you can learn to play by ear it's pretty good. I never learned all that music note stuff anyway. It was all too confusing plus i was teaching myself.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Mcfadden - 2007/08/27 05:53

You should get one of those harmonicas shaped like the Ocarina from OOT. I saw a kid with on at college. It was pretty cool. He kept playing Linkin Park though.. Which was strange

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/27 10:49

dont believe ive ever saw one like that. but i guess there are plenty that I haven't seen before.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Mcfadden - 2007/08/27 11:06

I will try and find one for you.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Mcfadden - 2007/08/27 11:09

http://cgi.ebay.com/Sweet-Potato-OCARINA-of-TIME-ClayZ-ZELDA-BLUE_W0QQitemZ250156673241QQihZ015QQcategoryZ62053QQssPageNameZWDVWQQrdZ1QQcmdZViewItem

It was kinda like this, but an actual harmonica

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Alpha Geek - 2007/08/27 20:04

that would be one wierd looking harmonica. I dont think the music store here in town has anything other than normal harmonicas. i wish they carried novelty instruments though.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Mcfadden - 2007/08/28 08:14

Yeah it was pretty cool but looked hard to play.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/10/12 22:33

I FOUND THE SIMPSONS THEME ON THE HARMONICA.....FREAKING SWEET LOL

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Ben Mcfadden - 2007/10/13 12:25

Good work. My mate works in a music shop. I can ask him if he knows any good sites.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/10/13 12:35

thanks that would be great....the music shop i go doesnt really have people with an expertise on the instruments they sell. cause its also a stereo shop..they fix broken guitar amps and cb radios and stuff like that too..but thanks again :)

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Donny De Leon - 2007/10/13 16:54

Thats how it is through out the nation we have sales people who know nothing about the product they sell so they lie to you so you can buy it. This has happened to me many times. For the heck of it I just go into an apple store and ask basic questions that they dont know the answer to. When I go to games stop most of the time depending on which one I ask for a certain kind of game and they offer me a different one that wasnt the one I was looking for. 3 months before the Wii came out I went in and asked when can I reserve the Wii and the store clerk tells me whats a Wii? I thought he was joking until that joke went far enough that I actually believed he didnt know what a Wii was. Seriously how do these people get hired in such a store that requires at least some knowledge of the products

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/10/14 13:20

well the guy that sold me my harmonica was really helpful the first time I went in. He was born and raised here and is not the kind of person that would lie to make a sell. I didn't know the first thing about harmonicas and so i tell him i want a hohner, and he shows me all the hohners and i tell him i want a sorta cheap one so he goes through showing me all those and then he asks me what key...and i said just whichever you sell alot of and he said c's and g's so i went with c.....he was really helpful....but the only reason he is in there is because he knows how to fix stereos and stuff like that.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Donny De Leon - 2007/10/14 17:05

Well yea we do have a few honest people that know the product. I used to work in retail at RadioShack and I used to hate it every time my coworker lied to people just to make a sale as well as the manager and once they found out that they had lied to them they would always come back and argue with me saying that the someone had lied to them. It was always frustrating on my side because I was the one who had to deal with their customers.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/10/14 18:51

the radioshack in my town is horrible. luckily my dad knows some stuff pretty good to where he can go in get what hes gettin and get out.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/11/23 02:34

Hmmmm.Weirdest thing happened today, but first lemme give you a little story lol.

I recently purchased a banjo (last friday) and have been strumming on it a little, I also have a ukulele that my aunt found in her attic (why it was up there i dont know) and i can play smoke on the water and old mcdonald on both of them lol.

So anyway, we get to my cousins house today and he gets out his fiddle (violin for those of you who have never heard fiddle used before) and magically whern i play it i can play smoke on the water and old mcdonald lol. I just thought that was a little strange.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Donny De Leon - 2007/11/23 05:03

lol i remember when my sister was had a music class and she was learning how to play the violin and I would always make fun of her by saying things like "Quit hitting the cat with your instrument" or "A chicken broke in and started playing with your Violin". She was really good at it and I guess as a brother we never really say nice things but sometimes I would just get the Violin and used it like a Ukaleily or something like that. When her music class ended I was actually thinking about getting her a violin for christmas but then she just lost interest in the instrument.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/11/23 14:01

Yea, thats what happened to my cousin, he bought a pretty decent viollin (around 200$) when he was about 9 or 10 and after about 3 months of learning the music teacher quit and they were just once a week lessons, i would say he didnt even have scales down yet.

=====

Re:Harmonica

Posted by alpha geek - 2007/12/08 14:31

I almost have my first song on banjo perfect and since I am almost done with my first song I thought I would start learning another one (cripple creek) and its hard lol. I can't explain to you how happy I am gonna be if I can ever learn to play cripple creek on my banjo. Because playing a musical instrument is just so relaxing, I can sit back in my chair and play my harp and be the most relaxed person in the world, there is just so much enjoyment in being able to play a musical instrument.

Re:Harmonica

Posted by skyler - 2008/03/29 15:21

wow...its been a long time.....and my banjo playing has really come up since the last time ive posted here lol. i can play earls braekdown and the foggy mountain breakdown. and im amazed that i can do that with only 4 months of playign lol. i find myself growing away from video games =\ i havent even played with my wii since christmas....so yea....o well though. this will be more worthwhile i reckon

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Odnetnin - 2008/03/30 01:55

Drifting away from video games...?
That's possible? :blink:

Re:Harmonica

Posted by skyler - 2008/04/03 00:10

yea....i wasnt even excited about the release of smash brawl.....and that was the game i was wanting to get so bad....ive just been blowing my money on my musicals lol. but i lied to you, i have played since christmas..one time....i sat down and played scarface and played for nearly 3 hours....and i know thats whatll happen if i actually sit down and play....but i just cant seem to get up enough interest in it to go in there and play =\.....

Re:Harmonica

Posted by skyler - 2008/05/06 02:44

man, im lost, i aint got any new games, wow, music has taken me over, completely :(

Re:Harmonica

Posted by Odnetnin - 2008/05/06 11:54

:blink:

Where is my little "wtf?" MSN emote when you need it...
